

Runtime Collective Limited

Modern Slavery Act Transparency Statement 2020

1. Our structure

We are Runtime Collective Limited (trading as Brandwatch). We are an English company, with our registered office address at Sovereign House, Church Street, 1st Floor, Brighton, BN1 1UJ, UK. We are the parent company of the Brandwatch Group, which includes 11 global subsidiaries.

2. Our business

We are a B2B SaaS company, selling digital consumer intelligence and data visualisation software to enterprise customers. You can find out more about our business here.

3. Our supply chain

Our supply chain for our core business consists of primarily data providers (such as Twitter) and data centre/cloud service providers (such as Amazon Web Services and Google Cloud). We also use a number of SaaS companies as ancillary service providers, such as Salesforce, Netsuite, etc.

4. Our policies on slavery and human trafficking

We are committed to ensuring that there is no modern slavery or human trafficking in our supply chain or in any part of our business. Our company conduct policy and our company values embody our commitment to acting ethically and with integrity in all of our actions.

5. Our effectiveness in combating slavery and human trafficking

Given the business in which we operate, our risk of having a supply chain involved in human trafficking is very low. As of this year's statement, we have not had any evidence that there has been any human trafficking in any part of our supply chain. We continue to operate our business to maintain our success in avoiding any human trafficking in our supply chain. This statement is made pursuant to section 54(1) of the Modern Slavery Act 2015 and constitutes our Group's slavery and human trafficking statement for the 2020 calendar year.
